CircuitPython or MicroPython Installation

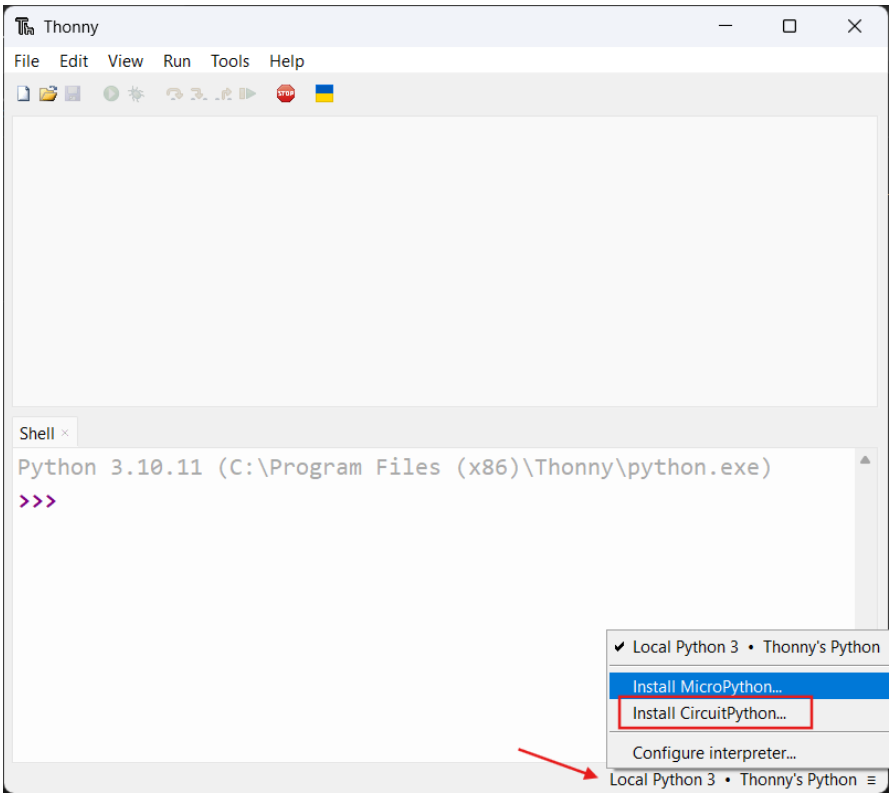

Press Hold BOOT button and connect to laptop/PC, now device is in boot mode you will see RP2350 device folder open as shown below:

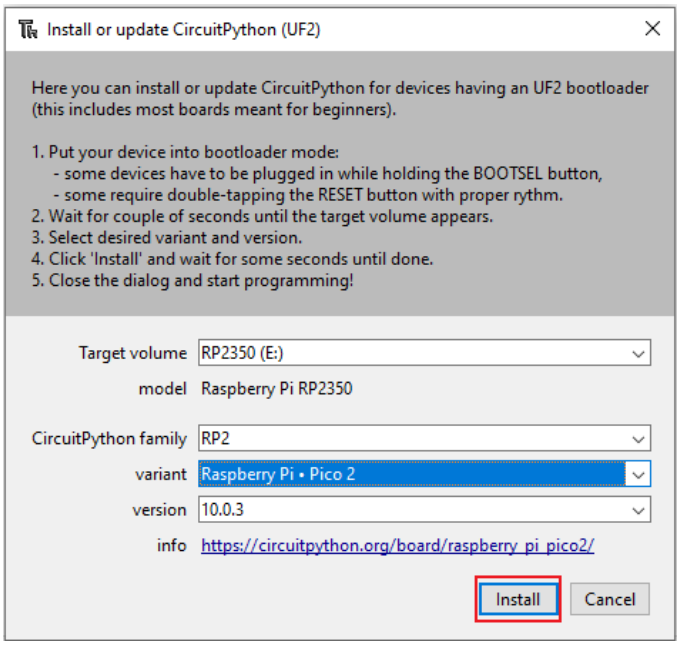

Open thonny IDE ,

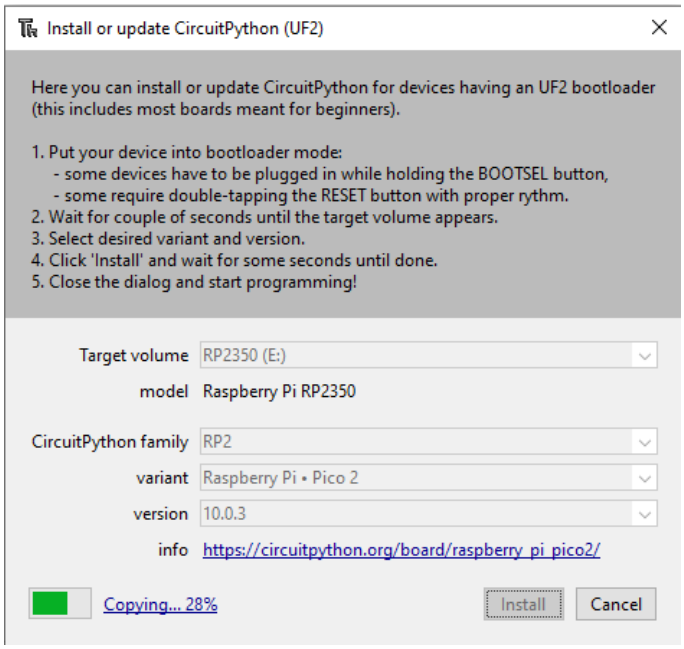

At Bottom corner click, you will get two options MicroPython and CircuitPython. Choose as per requirement for now select CircuitPython useful for HID features.

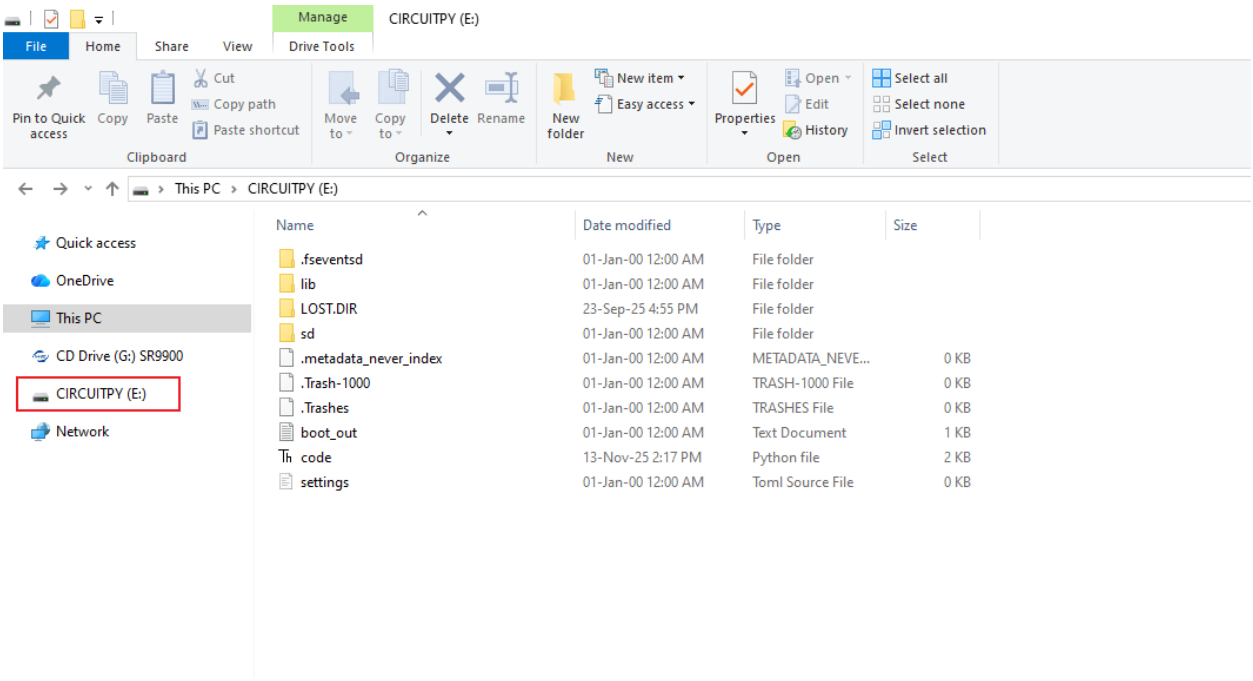

Select properly Target, family and variant as shown below and click install once done close.

Once installation successful automatically device will be listed as circuitpy as shown with folder having few default files and folder.

In thonny IDE, you will see respective device with suitable com port.

